Ahoy Beer Can Friends,

What a great first half of the 2025 Beer Can Season! Although the wind and weather gods have been pranking us this summer, we've still been able to complete 5 races!

As we wrap up the first half of the series, here are a few updates and reminders to help guide you.

Skippers: If you haven't registered for the Beer Can series, please do so as soon as possible!

Note: When you sign up, your registration will be processed after your PHRF rating has been approved by the OA.

Here are a couple of important announcements and reminders for the 2025 Season:

- Mac Break: The Beer Can Series will be on break Wednesday, July 16 & Wednesday, July 23 to give our Mac crews time to prepare themselves for their 333-mile (289 nautical miles) race to Mackinac Island. Fair Winds and Following Seas to all our Beer Can racers who are competing in the Mac, and a special cheer to racers for whom this will be their Goat Year! Happy 25th Mac to those newly minted Goats!

- Series Standing: Curious about your boat's standing after the first half? Log in to Clubspot and navigate to the "Results" tab. From there, select your section and ensure the drop-down is set to Overall series. Notice an error or have a question? Submit a Scoring Inquiry, and the Race Committee will look into it and get back to you.
- Are you looking for Crew or a Boat? Check out <https://railmeets.com/> for the latest listing of available boats and crew.
- Join our Email List: Not getting these emails, or someone forwarded this one? Click here to join our email list. By opting in, you'll receive all race notifications, updates, and other race-related information. This list will only be used for official Beer Can race communication. This is also a great way to keep your crew "in the know".

Boats with Remotes

Join us for model yacht racing immediately after the Beer Can Awards. Don't have a boat? Columbia has a fleet of six club boats for you to use.
